Financial Services

Although the core focus of Prism Management Services Ltd. is on the small to medium enterprise, it will also continue to provide services to financial services companies. This allows Prism Management Services Ltd. to continue to learn and benefit from the activities of some of the best companies in Ireland and the world. This creates downstream benefits for all clients.

Key products provided to financial institutions include:

- Ongoing business analysis and advice
- Development of strategic business plans
- Project management
- New product definition and development
- Development and streamlining of business processes
- Marketing
- Change management
- Cost management
- Cash management
- e-Commerce strategy
- Implementation of new technologies

Niall Strickland has worked on a large number of significant projects within the financial services industry during the past 25 years. These range from the development of several technology led business initiatives to project and program management. Work with someone who has a wealth of experience in the financial services arena with a proven ability to deliver value for money.
